For a Piece of Bread

By Pastor Alfred B. Davis

One of the worst famines in Ethiopia's history devastated the country in the 1980's, resulting in an estimated 300,000 to 1.2 million deaths and the relocation of some 2.5 million people. Generally, the famine is attributed to drought and civil unrest in the early 1980's. However, lesser-known causes, such as the enforced collectivization of farms and relocation of entire populations of some areas by the communist government greatly exacerbated the death toll.

In 1974 Mengistu Haile Mariam, Chairman of the Ethiopian Armed Forces Coordinating Committee (the Dergue), became the Vice-Chairman of the ruling Provisional Military Administrative Council (PMAC). Later that year, in November, Mengistu ordered the assassination of the PMAC's moderate Chairman and urged his loyalists to kill some 60 Ethiopian aristocrats and government officials, as well as suspected enemies within the ranks of the PMAC and the Dergue. In doing so, Mengistu became the de facto strongman of the regime, and helped orchestrate the nationalization of Ethiopia's industries and farmlands. By 1977 a battle between Mengistu's supporters and rivals on the PMAC resulted in the death of the PMAC Chairman and others, allowing Mengistu to become both the Chairman of the PMAC and the Ethiopian Head of State. In 1984 he established the communist Workers' Party of Ethiopia and further aligned Ethiopia with the USSR.

Armed rebellion against Mengistu and the government, especially in the northern regions of Tigray and Eritrea (now an independent country) led to increasingly harsh and violent treatment of the civilian population by the Ethiopian military as Mengistu increasingly used the ongoing famine to subdue opposition to his communist programs and goals. He removed people from their lands, relocating them and forcing them into refugee camps, where food, or the lack thereof, was used to force submission and compliance.

Meanwhile, as the world at large was becoming more aware of the tragedy unfolding in Ethiopia, various countries, along with international aid organizations and charitable groups, began efforts to provide relief to famine-stricken Ethiopia. Millions of dollars were raised. Tons of food and grain was shipped. And the people of Ethiopia continued to starve.

Why?

Well, having had a unique opportunity to observe the situation from my vantage point in England where I was stationed at the time with the U.S. Air Force, let me share a few insights. One, much of the money raised was given to the

MISSIONS SPOTLIGHT

The Heart of Missions

[From The Baptist Argus, 1900]

The modern missionary movement is no longer an experiment. The work of the consecrated cobbler, William Carey, has at last enlisted the sympathies of the civilized world. As the work of Paul the tent-maker gradually ramified the Roman Empire, so the work of Carey has gone on till every nation on earth has felt the momentum of this enterprise. Now, after a little over a century of organized effort, the mere roll-call of societies engaged in this great work, with the results, is absolutely staggering. The very world is being transformed before our eyes.

Witness the work at Tahiti, South Seas, Sierra Leone, Hawaii, New Zealand, Burma and the Karens, Madagascar, Fiji Islands, New Hebrides, Formosa, Telugus, Japan, China, and Africa, not to mention many other parts of the world that have been quickened into life in this century. If the author of Hebrews were making a list of heroes of faith now, he could add many from mission annals. How these names should stir our blood and revive our faith. They come trooping past, Carey and Judson, Livingston and Moffatt, Duff and Yates, Williams and Paton. "And what shall I more say?"

The whole world has stood in respectful attention while some of the mightiest men of earth, men who have given their lives to work in heathen lands, have counselled together for advance work on the strongholds of darkness. This august and triumphant assemblage of mission workers is in sharp contrast to the Congress of Religions at Chicago during the World's Fair. That was to parley with the foe and to scatter the forces. This is to close up the ranks with a "forward, march."

It is not without significance that President McKinley, ex-President Harrison, Governor Roosevelt, ex-Governor Northen, and others prominent in national affairs, were leaders at the Ecumenical Conference. The dignity of the Missionary enterprise is commensurate with the gifts of the greatest and highest of earth. It is no wonder that even Mr. Darwin became a contributor to missions when he saw what had been wrought in the isles of the sea.

President A. H. Strong struck the keynote of the missionary idea when he said that missions is Christ. It is the presence of Christ upon the hearts of men that compels missionary effort. Jesus himself has loomed in larger stature before the modern world. He has made hearts burn as he walked beside his disciples. Christianity is Christ. Missions is taking Christ to men. This is the heart of the communist government of Ethiopia where it lined the pockets of Mengistu and his cronies and helped support the military and enable its repressive actions against the citizens of Ethiopia. Two, much of the grain that was sent to Ethiopia was not allowed to be unloaded at the docks, while that which was unloaded was subjected to excessive docking and unloading fees. Third, much of the grain that was unloaded was left sitting in warehouses where it either spoiled or was sent to feed the military. And fourth, the small amount that eventually did make it to the people mostly went to those who were willing to prostrate themselves before Mengistu and his communist Workers' Party for a piece of bread.

Sadly, many of those raising money to feed Ethiopia knew where the money and food was going. They knew that it was propping up the communist regime and that very little was actually getting to the starving masses. Nevertheless, they continued their fund-raising efforts, exploiting the famine as much for their own purposes as Mengistu and the Workers' Party of Ethiopia did for theirs. Consequently, to this day I still cringe when I hear "Do They Know It's Christmas?" or "We Are the World."

Writing in Commentary magazine's April 1986 issue (<https://www.commentary.org/articles/arch-puddington-2/ethiopia-the-communist-uses-of-famine/>), Arch Puddington observed:

"Ethiopia has suffered not so much a natural catastrophe as a deliberate state-sponsored atrocity, with nature providing the authorities with the means to break the rural society's resistance to radical change. Thus the parallels which can be applied to Ethiopia are less with Africa than with previous instances of totalitarian agrarian extremism: the Khmer Rouge in Cambodia; China during the Great Leap Forward; the Ukrainian famine of the early 1930's."

In other words, Mengistu was following the example of Pol Pot, Mao, and Stalin of using famine to repress his enemies and control the people. However, the communists were not the first to use food to control the masses. This is a technique that has been used by despots, dictators, and strongmen for thousands Words Worth Considering...

"One of the painful signs of dumbed-down education is how many people are unable to make a coherent argument. They can vent their emotions, question other people's motives, make bold assertions, repeat slogans—anything except reason."
—Dr. Thomas Sowell

"The law is the organization of the natural right...of lawful defense: it is the substitution of collective for individual forces, for the purpose of acting in the sphere in which they have a right to act, of doing what they have a right to do, to secure persons, liberties, and properties, and to maintain each in its right, so as to cause justice to reign over all."
—Frederic Bastiat

"And remember, that however learnedly or eloquently you may discourse, your ministry will be comparatively powerless, unless it is associated with a holy and prudent life. Splendid talents have frequently been useless, because they were not sustained by piety and circumspection."
—American Baptist Magazine, 1830

"The big lie the Leftmedia is spinning behind all the hand-wringing over Christian Nationalism is the belief that a Christian's faith should not be allowed to inform and influence his political views. But the truth is everyone's vote is influenced by what they believe to be true. An atheist will vote according to his belief that there is no God just as much as a Christian will vote according to his views about God and what pleases Him."
—Thomas Gallatin

"Stop taking our children to drag shows and start taking them to church."
—Congresswoman Mayra Flores

"Reminder that in 1969 Planned Parenthood produced a memo recommending strategies for population control. These include 'restructuring the family,' encouragement of increased homosexuality, tax funded abortion, and sterilization. They then went on and implemented all of these."
—Matt Walsh

"Be on guard against tampering with the word. For a scholarly attempt at hidden meanings. And beware of the confusion caused by the senseless rash of new revisions, translations, editions and improvements upon the tested and tried Bible of our fathers and forefathers."
—M. R. DeHaan

"The Bible is the only Book in the world that can tell you with any authority, why you are here, where you came from, and where you are going when you leave this earth. It is the only Book that can tell you with any authority, how to get saved."
—Dr. Bruce D. Cummons

"God holds the reins. He is using this present world system for His eternal purpose, and it will be finished exactly when God decides, to be replaced by Christ's kingdom."

MINISTRY FOCUS

Final Radio Ad

Our 10 week ad series on 1420 WHK came to an end on October 28. Although we have not elected to continue them, we are thankful for the opportunity to do them. They have garnered a great deal of attention and some have even been replayed on other programs as well as being posted on a variety of social media sites.

One final radio ad was produced in time to run for the last couple of weeks:

Ad #7

Drag queen story hours in our schools and churches, gender dysphoric men dominating women's sports, violence and anarchy taking over our streets. All encouraged and promoted by politicians, school boards, teacher's unions, even churches.

America is spiraling into an abyss of spiritual darkness and moral insanity.

Now, more than ever, God's people need to shine forth as beacons of truth in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation.

But what if they won't heed the light?

Well, as President Reagan used to say, "When you can't make them see the light, make them feel the heat!"

Unfortunately, many churches have abandoned the Word of God for the philosophies of men and their light has gone out. The fire has gone out in their pulpits, and they've become lukewarm; neither cold nor hot. They need to repent and turn back to God.

This is Pastor Al Davis of the Richfield Bible Baptist Church, host of Live with Pastor Al on 1220 the Word.

Don't hide your light! Light a fire! Stand up, speak out, vote, and make them feel the heat!

Sunday Night Radio Program Gains an Hour

Our Sunday night radio program, Late Night Live with Pastor Al, will be gaining an hour in November. For many years we have been on every Sunday night from 11:00 PM to midnight. Starting on November 13, we will now be on from 10:00 PM to midnight.

Due to program changes at 1220 WHKW we found out that there was a possibility that the 10:00 hour might become available. When we asked about it, we were told that it was a remote possibility but, should it become available, they would let us know. A week or so later it did become available and was offered to us.

One option that we had was to simply move up our 11:00 program to 10:00 and keep it at just an hour. The problem there, however, is that the 11:00 program is simulcast in Tampa, Florida, which currently has a live program there in the 10:00 hour. That would mean broadcasting a recorded program there at 11:00. That would also mean putting disclaimers on the program to let listeners in Florida know that Late Night Live is not really live, despite the name, and that the phone numbers given during the program were not really open for calls even though we say so throughout the program. Consequently, we opted to keep the 11:00 hour and add the 10:00 hour. That way, we will begin the program in Cleveland at 10:00 and welcome our Tampa listeners at 11:00.

Hopefully, starting an hour earlier will bring us more listeners and callers. In fact, many times we hear from people that they enjoy the program but it is just too late for them to stay up. We have even had people who have said that they wanted to call in about something but fell asleep waiting for the program to come on and missed it. (Apparently, not everyone is a night owl!)

In addition to more listeners and callers, adding an extra hour will allow us to discuss more issues and welcome more special guests to the program. After all, there have been many times where we simply have run out of time when dealing with some issue or question and have not been able to address other things. Also, some guests that we would like to have had on in the past were unable to join us due to the hour.

So, please be sure to pray for us as we expand our program. There a number of challenges ahead, not the least of which is an additional $140.00 a week, but we are confident that, with the Lord's help, we will overcome and persevere for the glory of God! ✠ of years. But they did not invent it, it is found in the Bible.

Let's look at an interesting account of an extremely severe famine recorded in the Book of Genesis. Chapter 41 tells us how God enabled Joseph to interpret Pharaoh's dreams as a warning that there would soon be seven years of plenty followed by seven years of famine. Upon hearing Joseph's interpretation and advice, Pharaoh appointed Joseph as ruler of all Egypt, second only to Pharaoh, and committed all preparation for the coming famine into his hands.

As the famine took hold and people began to feel its effects, we see that they were soon willing to spend whatever they had to in order to feed themselves and their families. The Bible tells us in Genesis 47:13-14:

"And there was no bread in all the land; for the famine was very sore, so that the land of Egypt and all the land of Canaan fainted by reason of the famine. And Joseph gathered up all the money that was found in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, for the corn which they bought: and Joseph brought the money into Pharaoh's house."

As the famine continues and the money fails, we read in verses 15-17:

"And when money failed in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came unto Joseph, and said, Give us bread: for why should we die in thy presence? for the money faileth. And Joseph said, Give your cattle; and I will give you for your cattle, if money fail. And they brought their cattle unto Joseph: and Joseph gave them bread in exchange for horses, and for the flocks, and for the cattle of the herds, and for the asses: and he fed them with bread for all their cattle for that year."

Still later in the famine, bereft of money and cattle, we find them willing, in versus 18-20 to sell both themselves and their lands for bread:

"When that year was ended, they came unto him the second year, and said unto him, We will not hide it from my lord, how that our money is spent; my lord also hath our herds of cattle; there is not ought left in the sight of my lord, but our bodies, and our lands:

Wherefore shall we die before thine eyes, both we and our land? buy us and our land for bread, and we and our land will be servants unto Pharaoh: and give us seed, that we may live, and not die, that the land be not desolate. And Joseph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh; for the Egyptians sold every man his field, because the famine prevailed over them: so the land became Pharaoh's."

Joseph even instituted resettlement programs in verse 21:

"And as for the people, he removed them to cities from one end of the borders of Egypt even to the other end thereof."

And, in a fashion uncomfortably similar to the globalist World Economic Forum founder Klaus Schwab's comment regarding the Great Reset, "You will own nothing and be happy," we read in verse 25:

"And they said, Thou hast saved our lives: let us find grace in the sight of my lord, and we will be Pharaoh's servants."

We see this pattern repeated down through history. The use of a crisis such as a famine or simply food shortages and societal unrest to progressively deprive the populace of their money, means of production, property, and, ultimately, themselves. Add in resettlement to break up communities and family connections and you have the makings of a totalitarian state and a dictator. All for a piece of bread.

Of course, some would object and say that Joseph was not a despot. He was a godly man who had the needs and wellbeing of the Egyptian people in mind. However, it must be pointed out that, while he was a benevolent ruler, he was an absolute ruler, second only to Pharaoh. He was, in effect, a dictator, albeit a benevolent one. Unfortunately, not all dictators are as

THE FIRST PILGRIM THANKSGIVING OF 1621

Among the more than one hundred aboard the Pilgrim's ship, the Mayflower, the majority were devout Christians. These "Separatists" had departed the corruption gripping the Church of England and set sail for the New World. They hoped to construct a new life and worship the Lord in the way they believed the Scriptures taught.

Before landing the company of "saints and strangers" deliberated how they would maintain law and order among themselves and entered into a "covenant" agreement, The Mayflower Compact.

Those who went ashore "fell upon their knees and blessed the God of heaven, who had brought them over the fast and furious ocean." All safely landed on December 26, 1620. Trees were cut and a combination Fort and Church Meeting House were constructed.

In the autumn of 1621 the Pilgrims gathered in their first harvest; 20 acres of corn laid out by Squanto, poorer yields from seven acres of English barley, wheat and peas, pumpkins, wild honey, plums, and red and white wild grapes.

The village now had seven completed dwellings and the Pilgrims could look about them with a gathering sense of security. They set apart a time for thanksgiving. Their Indian friends were invited and 990 of them arrived with Massasoit. They brought deer and the Pilgrims furnished seafood, geese, ducks, and wild turkey. Rough tables were spread with the tempting array of the Lord's provisions. Elder William Brewster led in prayer and the festivities, which lasted three days, involved sports and contests and cemented ties of friendship between the Wampanoags and the Pilgrims.

benevolent and godly as Joseph was. In fact, history has shown us that most are quite the opposite.

The Bible warns us in 2 Timothy 3:1, "that in the last days perilous times shall come." Jesus also warns in Luke 21 that there will be "wars and commotions" (verse 9), "great earthquakes ... famines, and pestilences" (verse 11), and "Men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth" (verse 26). During that time, Satan will supply a man, known in Scripture as the Beast or the Antichrist, promising great things, with a small price of course.

Notice what John records in Revelation 13:5:

"And there was given unto him a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies; and power was given unto him to continue forty and two months."

This person is the coming king that Daniel writes about in Daniel 11:36, saying:

"And the king shall do according to his will; and he shall exalt himself, and magnify himself above every god, and shall speak marvelous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the indignation be accomplished: for that that is determined shall be done."

And all you will need to do is receive, according to Revelation 13:16-17, a little mark in your right hand, or forehead, without which you will not be able to buy or sell. Oh yeah, and there is just one other thing, 2 Thessalonians 2:5 says that he will claim to be God and in Revelation 13:15 we read that his cheerleader, known as the False Prophet, will "cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast [king/Antichrist] should be killed."

But is that too great a price to pay for a piece of bread? Not for some, but remember, God tells us in Revelation 14:9-11 what the ultimate price for that piece of bread will be:

"And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand, The same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation; and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb: And the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever: and they have no rest day nor night, who worship the beast and his image, and whosoever receiveth the mark of his name."

Something to remember the next time someone comes around during a crisis promising a piece of bread.

mission problem. The throb of Jesus' love is in this work.

As we sweep into the twentieth century, a wonderful vista rises before us. We stand upon the end of the ages. The achievements of the past century form so many outposts all over the world for effective, aggressive campaigning. Now, at last, the Christian world can grapple with the centres of heathenism. Japan is crying out for light. It is a new Macedonian cry. A nation is ready to fall into the light. Corea [sic] is ready for the harvest. India is already deeply imbued with Christianity. Even Thibet has opened her doors. And China, China at last is reeling under the struggle between darkness and light. The time is ripe to storm the citadel of Satan.

A Presidential Proclamation

The year that is drawing toward its close has been filled with the blessings of fruitful fields and healthful skies. To these bounties, which are so constantly enjoyed that we are prone to forget the source from which they come, others have been added, which are of so extraordinary a nature that they cannot fail to penetrate and soften the heart which is habitually insensible to the ever-watchful providence of Almighty God.

In the midst of a civil war of unequalled magnitude and severity, which has sometimes seemed to foreign states to invite and provoke their aggressions, peace has been preserved with all nations, order has been maintained, the laws have been respected and obeyed, and harmony has prevailed everywhere, except in the theater of military conflict; while that theater has been greatly contracted by the advancing armies and navies of the Union.

Needful diversions of wealth and of strength from the fields of peaceful industry to the national defense have not arrested the plow, the shuttle, or the ship; the ax has enlarged the borders of our settlements, and the mines, as well of iron and coal as of the precious metals, have yielded even more abundantly than heretofore. Population has steadily increased, notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege, and the battlefield, and the country, rejoicing in the consciousness of augmented strength and vigor, is permitted to expect continuance of years with large increase of freedom.

No human counsel hath devised, nor hath any mortal hand worked out these great things. They are the gracious gifts of the Most High God, who while dealing with us in anger for our sins, hath nevertheless remembered mercy.

It has seemed to me fit and proper that they should be solemnly, reverently, and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and one voice by the whole American people. I do, therefore, invite my fellow-citizens in every part of the United States, and also those who are at sea and those who are sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November next as a Day of Thanksgiving and Praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the heavens. And I recommend to them that, while offering up the ascriptions justly due to Him for such singular deliverances and blessings, they do also, with humble penitence for our national perverseness and disobedience, commend to His tender care all those who have become widows, orphans, mourners, or sufferers in the lamentable civil strife in which we are unavoidably engaged, and fervently implore the interposition of the Almighty hand to heal the wounds of the nation, and to restore it, as soon as may be consistent with the Divine purposes, to the full enjoyment of peace, harmony, tranquility, and union.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this third day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and of the Independence of the United States the eighty-eighth.

—Abraham Lincoln, October 3, 1863
