When the World Becomes Ungovernable

By Pastor Alfred B. Davis

I remember reading an article many years ago that one day movie producers would be able to digitally recreate famous actors of the past and cast them in movies with present day actors. Imagine seeing Douglas Fairbanks and Scarlett Johansson along with Dwayne Johnson and Greta Garbo in an action-packed adventure. Or, maybe Rudolph Valentino and Emma Stone in a holiday romance or Buster Keaton and Jackie Chan in a unique blend of slapstick action and physical humor paired with Lillian Gish and Carol Burnett.

At the time it was the stuff of science fiction. Now, it is reality. Using CGI to recreate the physical appearance and Artificial Intelligence (AI) algorithms to control speech, facial expressions, and movements, Hollywood can now cast actors of the past with modern actors in full-length movies today. For that matter, completely unique actors, such as Tilly Norwood, a completely AI-generated character created by Particle6 Productions, can be cast with live actors as well.

AI-generation is not limited to people, but it also includes animals, scenery, and props, as well as lighting, music, and sound effects. In short, everything needed to produce completely AI-generated videos ranging from just several seconds to full-length movies is now not only possible but increasingly commonplace. But at what cost?

Already, ethical concerns and legal questions have been raised regarding AI-generated likenesses of both deceased and living actors. Who owns the rights to the likeness of an actor, living or dead? Who should profit from AI-generated likenesses? What happens when an AI-generated likeness of either a living or deceased actor is depicted engaging in degrading or pornographic roles, or other roles that the human actor would never have agreed to?

Meanwhile, while the moviemakers struggle with such issues, the internet is overflowing with AI-generated videos. Everything from little old ladies rescuing their tiny dogs from the jaws of huge alligators to videos featuring famous people as talking babies. President Donald Trump can

Spotlights In Baptist History

Early Canadian Baptist Church Covenant

The following Church Covenant was adopted by many Baptist churches in the eastern provinces of Canada. This covenant appeared in the Minutes of the New Brunswick Baptist Association and other associations in the mid-1800s.

We do now, in the presence of the great, all-seeing and most glorious God, and before angels and men, give up ourselves to the Lord JEHOVAH, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, and acknowledge him this day to be our God, our Father, our Saviour, and our Leader, and receive him as our portion for ever.

We give up ourselves to the Lord Jesus Christ, and engage to adhere to him as the head of his people in the covenant of grace, and rely on him as our Prophet, Priest, and King, to bring us to eternal blessedness.

We acknowledge our everlasting and indispensable obligations to glorify God, by living a holy, righteous, and godly life, in this present world, in all our several places and relations; and we engage, by the assistance of the Divine Spirit, to improve our time, strength, talents, and advantages to his glory and the good of our fellow-men; promising, by divine help, to walk in our houses as becomes those professing godliness, and to maintain the worship of God in our families, and to train up those under our care in the ways of religion and virtue.

We also give up ourselves to one another in covenant, promising to conduct ourselves towards each other as brethren in Christ, watching over one another in the love of God, (reproving, rebuking, and admonishing one another for good as occasion may require; and if we at any time know that any of the members of the church are guilty of immoral conduct, that we will not expose them by tattling it to others, but will faithfully labour with them, according to the direction of our Lord: Matthew 18, 15-17, that sin may be put away from among us, and that iniquity may not be harboured in the church) and to watch not only against the most gross evils, but also against all foolish talking and jesting, which are not convenient; vain disputing about words and things, which gender strife; disregarding promises, and not fulfilling engagements; tattling and backbiting, spending time idly at taverns, or elsewhere, and vain and unnecessary conversation on the Lord's day, and whatsoever else that is contrary to sound doctrine, according to the glorious gospel of Christ; promising to hold communion together in the worship of God, and in the ordinances and discipline of his church, according as we are or shall be guided by the Spirit of God in his word; expecting that he will yet further and more gloriously open his word and the mysteries of his even be seen arresting former President Barrak Obama in the Oval Office and perp-walking him out the door only to later visit him in federal prison.

That last example brings up a concern; namely, what happens when AI-generated videos become so widespread and so convincing that you can no longer trust anything that you see or hear? Generally, AI-generated pictures and videos have some clue, such as an obviously unrealistic or unlikely premise or setting, or are presented in such a fashion as to indicate that it is fictitious or made-up.

Unfortunately, not all videos and photos are so easily recognized as AI. In fact, a growing number of them take great pains to come across as real. Many are designed to confuse, sow discontent, or plant false information. People from all walks of life are finding themselves taken in by false, AI-generated propaganda or, disturbingly, the victim of smear campaigns, lies, and inuendo backed up by AI-generated media.,

When you think about it, the ability to trust that what we typically see, hear, and perceive is the basis of civilization and faith. Without it, the world soon descends into chaos and confusion. But that is not what God wants for us. That is what the Devil wants, as we can see in 1 Corinthians 14:33, where the Apostle Paul writes:

For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as in all churches of the saints.

Unfortunately, the rise of AI-generated videos and pictures is quickly pushing us into the day where we will not be able to trust what we see, hear, and perceive. When we can no longer believe our eyes or our ears, how will we know what to believe or think about anything or anyone? How can a society function when we can no longer determine or trust that a statement, an incident, an event, or anything that we see, hear, or perceive is real or AI?

Lest you think I am overreacting to the potential threat posed by AI-generated media undermining our society, consider what Maggie Harrison Dupré wrote in a recent article, Numerous Billionaires Preparing for End of Society – Guns, Gold, and Bunkers Galore, published 12 October 2025 at Futurism.com (<https://futurism.com/artifi>)

Words Worth Considering...

"Religious liberty is the lynchpin of all other freedoms. Remove religious freedom, and other liberties will soon be taken away as well." —Jerry Newcomb

"The divide in America and around the world seems to be growing day by day. Satan is raging because he knows his time is short. He is our enemy. Those who reject Christ are raging because their hearts are filled with confusion, hate, and despair. But that does not make them our enemy; as Charlie Kirk realized, that makes them our mission field."

—Tim Moore

"The atheists thought rationality would prove a godless, materialist conception of reality. When they find out it points the other way, they want to give up on rationality."

—John West

When the Church is silent, evil advances. When pastors refuse to speak, laws are passed that mock God's design. When parishioners are not guided, they vote blindly or not at all. And when Christians abandon the ballot box, they abandon the battlefield.

—Christian Vezilj

Baptist churches today are often characterized by shallow worship, shallow preaching and shallow evangelism. They have no knowledge of their history and minimal knowledge of Scripture. They literally do not know where they came from and are waiting for the next religious fad to see where they are going. Our churches have often competed where they should have cooperated; and many of our pastors do not know gold, silver and precious stones from wood, hay and stubble. The mantra is 'build, build, build,' yet no one cares whether it is a barn or a temple under construction.

—Ron Crisp

As Christians it is easy to feel antipathy and even disdain for those who dismantle morality, history, and democracy, and while there is a time and a way as a nation to come together to resist these attacks, believers must avoid succumbing to the same motivating force of hate that drives the enemies of the church."

—Lucas Miles

But to many people, their default position is to hate, curse, and destroy those they disagree with. We can thank our public education system for dumbing down our children, teaching them to feel rather than think. We can also thank the education system for removing the Bible from schools for the sake of 'separation of church and state.' The handbook for life has been thrown out, and we get to choose what we believe. Chaos results!

—Roger Helle

Religion cannot be imposed by force; the matter must be carried on by word rather than by blows, that the will may be affected. Torture and piety are widely different; nor is it possible for truth to be united with violence, or justice with cruelty. Nothing is so much a matter of free will as religion.

—Lactantius (240-320AD)

MINISTRY FOCUS

Day of the Bible at the Ohio Statehouse

Original 1782
Aitken Bible

Stephen Skelton
Pastor Al Davis

Rep. Bill Roemer
Sen. Kristina Roegner
Stephen Skelton

On Tuesday, October 28, Pastor Davis joined a number of other Baptist pastors in Columbus the Ohio Statehouse with Awake America. Awake America sponsored the Day of the Bible, featuring a display of one few known original 1782 Aitken Bibles. In addition to the display, replica copies of the Aitken Bible were presented to State Representatives and State Senators.

The Aitken Bible is the first English Bible published in America and remains to this day the first and only Bible authorized and recommended by the United States Congress. At the time, all English Bibles were printed in England. King George had banned the printing of English Bibles in America. Due to the Revolutionary War, America's supply of Bibles was cut off.

Recognizing the need for Bibles, Congress authorized Robert Aitken, the first printer for the Journals of Congress, to print the King James Bible for distribution to churches, schools, and our troops. Ten thousand copies were printed but only a small number of them are known to exist, making the Aitken Bible one of the rarest and most sought after early American books.

Pastor Davis was able to present a copy of the Aitken Bible to our local legislators Representative Bill Roemer and Senator Kristina Roegner, as well as Geauga County Representative Sarah Fowler-Arthur.

Stephen Skelton, the founder of the American Bible Project, is the owner of this particular Aitken Bible. He succeeded in getting the Aitken Bible included in Tennessee's list of ten official state books. Through the American Bible Project, Skelton is working to put replica copies of the Aitken Bible into the hands of state and federal legislators, as well as the History Departments of schools across the country.

You can learn more about the Aitken Bible at: FirstAmericanBible.org.

Abraham Lincoln's Proclamation of Thanksgiving

Washington DC, October 3, 1863

By the President of the United States of America.

A Proclamation.

The year that is drawing towards its close, has been filled with the blessings of fruitful fields and healthful skies. To these bounties, which are so constantly enjoyed that we are prone to forget the source from which they come, others have been added, which are of so extraordinary a nature, that they cannot fail to penetrate and soften even the heart which is habitually insensible to the ever watchful providence of Almighty God.

In the midst of a civil war of unequalled magnitude and severity, which has sometimes seemed to foreign States to invite and to provoke their aggression, peace has been preserved with all nations, order has been maintained, the laws have been respected and obeyed, and harmony has prevailed everywhere except in the theatre of military conflict; while that theatre has been greatly contracted by the advancing armies

These days, the race for AI dominance has ignited a new wave of existential fear among the tech elite — particularly among those in the AI industry, who frequently discuss how worried they are that uncontrollable artificial general intelligence (AGI) will cause the current world order to crumble.

Figures like OpenAI CEO Sam Altman and former OpenAI chief scientist Ilya Sutskever, who now helms the rival AI firm Safe Superintelligence, among others, have voiced their concern that still-unrealized AGI, or an AI system that's generally more intelligent than humans, will send human society into irreparable chaos.

In other words, these AI tech leaders fear that AI systems will one day control so much of we see and hear that we will not be able to believe or trust anything or anyone, sending "human society into irreparable chaos." In fact, Dupré even quotes Sutskever as saying, "We're definitely going to build a bunker before we release AGI."

Even if AI does not become quite as overpowering and uncontrollable as some of the tech leaders fear, Dupré points out that it is already making it hard to distinguish between what is real and what is AI:

But AI also doesn't have to be conscious or achieve human-level intelligence in order to cause chaos in our social world. If the recent release of OpenAI's video-generating tool Sora 2 has demonstrated anything, it's that generative AI is turning the web into an increasingly unreal place to spend time; as the gap between what's clearly digitally-generated slop and what's real continues to close, AI will remain a powerful engine of misinformation.

Like it or not, anxiety, fear, and unease, ranging from a nameless sense of foreboding that all is not well, to an overwhelming dread of what will happen to me and my family should the world collapse catastrophically into complete chaos and confusion, seeps across the land affecting people from all walks of life. AI, intentionally or unintentionally, as Dupré points out, exacerbates and fuels those concerns:

What's more, public-facing generative AI tools have already wrought profound changes on our interpersonal and even interior worlds, as more and more minors and adults alike turning to assistant-like chatbots like OpenAI's ChatGPT and AI companions like those found on Character.AI for therapy, life advice, conversation, friendship, and romance — and, in many cases, enter into destructive, unhealthy relationships with the emotive AI bot that cause tumult in their real lives.

Consequently, doomsday preparations have become big business of late. Prepper conventions, magazines, websites, and suppliers abound offering advice, training, tools, generators, medical supplies, 25-year shelf stable foods, heirloom seeds, guns and ammo, generators and everything imaginable to ride out the ture, or, as the Bible puts it, they are to be "caught up... to meet the Lord in the air" (1 Thessalonians 4:17).

After that, a world leader will arise, referred to in the Bible variously as the antichrist, the beast, the man of sin, and the son of perdition. When he comes to power he will, according to Daniel 9:27, confirm (literally: establish; make firm or strong) a seven-year covenant with the Jewish people, ostensibly bringing peace to the region. Thus begins a seven-year period known in the Bible as the Tribulation. Although things may seem to start off well, things will quickly go from bad to worse. From wars, famines, and natural disasters to signs in the heavens, Jesus Himself said in Luke 21:25-26:

²⁵*And there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars; and upon the earth distress* of nations, with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring; ²⁶Men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth: for the powers of heaven shall be shaken.

Remember those bunkers that I mentioned earlier? Consider Revelation 6:15-17:

¹⁵*And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chief captains, and the mighty men, and every bondman, and every free man, hid themselves in the dens and in the rocks of the mountains; ¹⁶And said to the mountains and rocks, Fall on us, and hide us from the face of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb: ¹⁷For the great day of his wrath is come; and who shall be able to stand?*

And it only gets worse from there. As the judgment of God is poured out on an unrepentant world, things will get so bad that God will have to intervene. In fact, in Matthew 24:21-22, Jesus stated:

²¹*For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be. ²²And except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved: but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened.*

As it is, the Bible indicates that billions of people will die during the course of the coming apocalypse. From small basic shelters under a hundred square feet to huge luxury retreats of thousands of square feet, everyone from billionaires to middle-class preppers are investing in underground bunkers to keep themselves safe in case of everything from natural disasters or social unrest to nuclear or electromagnetic pulse (EMP) attacks leading to run away, out of control AI systems leading to the complete breakdown of government and society.

But what does God have to say about it?

Well, in 2 Timothy 1:7, the Apostle Paul writes:

For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.

But this assurance is not for everyone. It is only for those who have put their faith in Jesus Christ as their personal Lord and Saviour. In fact, before things go completely awry, the Bible says that God will remove the Believers out of the world in an event referred to as the Rap-

Tribulation. Some will die from the effects of war, famine, and disease. Some will die from unprecedented natural disasters. Many who embrace Jesus Christ as their Saviour will die from persecution by the Antichrist government. And, according to Zechariah 13:8-9, two thirds of the Jewish population alone will die:

⁸And it shall come to pass, that in all the land, saith the LORD, two parts therein shall be cut off and die; but the third shall be left therein. ⁹And I will bring the third part through the fire, and will refine them as silver is refined, and will try them as gold is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will hear them: I will say, It is my people: and they shall say, The LORD is my God.

Finally, as the world becomes more and more chaotic and more and more ungovernable, God will intervene. Jesus Christ will return to the earth in power and glory to rescue those who come to Christ during the Tribulation, according to Matthew 24:29-31:

²⁹Immediately after the tribulation of those days shall the sun be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken:

³⁰And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven: and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory. ³¹And he shall send his angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

Jesus will also reveal Himself to the Jewish people as their Messiah:

And I will pour upon the house of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of grace and of supplications: and they shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for him, as one mourneth for his only son, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one that is in bitterness for his firstborn. (Zechariah 12:10)

And will defeat the Antichrist and his armies at the battle of Armageddon:

¹¹And I saw heaven opened and behold a white horse; and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he doth judge and make war. ¹²His eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crowns; and he had a name written, that no man knew, but he himself. ¹³And he was clothed with a vesture dipped in blood: and his name is called The Word of God. ¹⁴And the armies which were in heaven followed him upon white horses, clothed in fine linen, white and clean. ¹⁵And out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron: and he treadeth the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God. (Revelation 19:11-15)

Then God, in the person of Jesus Christ, will set up His own government to rule and reign over all the earth for a thousand years:

And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them: and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years. (Revelation 20:4)

I hope you will be a part of our Lord's kingdom on earth. You can – will – be if you have put your faith in Jesus Christ as your Lord and Saviour. In the meanwhile, as the late Dr. John Francis used to say, "Cheer up! Things are bound to get worse!"

and navies of the Union.

Needful diversions of wealth and of strength from the fields of peaceful industry to the national defense, have not arrested the plough, the shuttle or the ship; the axe has enlarged the borders of our settlements, and the mines, as well of iron and coal as of the precious metals, have yielded even more abundantly than heretofore. Population has steadily increased, notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege and the battle-field; and the country, rejoicing in the consciousness of augmented strength and vigor, is permitted to expect continuance of years with large increase of freedom.

No human counsel hath devised nor hath any mortal hand worked out these great things. They are the gracious gifts of the Most High God, who, while dealing with us in anger for our sins, hath nevertheless remembered mercy.

It has seemed to me fit and proper that they should be solemnly, reverently and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and one voice by the whole American People. I do therefore invite my fellow citizens in every part of the United States, and also those who are at sea and those who are sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving and Praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the Heavens. And I recommend to them that while offering up the ascriptions justly due to Him for such singular deliverances and blessings, they do also, with humble penitence for our national perverseness and disobedience, commend to His tender care all those who have become widows, orphans, mourners or sufferers in the lamentable civil strife in which we are unavoidably engaged, and fervently implore the interposition of the Almighty Hand to heal the wounds of the nation and to restore it as soon as may be consistent with the Divine purposes to the full enjoyment of peace, harmony, tranquillity and Union.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this Third day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and of the Independence of the United States the Eighty-eighth.
